Exercise Questions

Question 1:

The shepherd hadn't been to school because

- (i) he was very poor.
- (ii) there were very few schools in those days.
- (iii) he wasn't interested in studies.

Choose the right answer.

Answer:

(ii) there were very few schools in those days.

Question 2:

Who visited the shepherd one day, and why?

Answer:

The king of Iran visited a clever shepherd because he heard about how wise and friendly the shepherd was. To keep it a surprise, the king dressed up as a shepherd and rode on a mule to meet the kind-hearted shepherd.

Question 3:

Why did the other governors grow jealous of the shepherd?

Answer:

The king was happy with how the smart shepherd welcomed him and decided to make him the leader of a small area. The people admired and respected him because he was clever, caring, and good-hearted. Soon, his reputation spread across the country. But, the leaders of other areas got very envious and started saying bad things about him to the king.

Question 4:

Why was the new governor called to the palace?

Answer:

The leaders from different areas were very jealous of the new leader. He was famous for being smart, caring, and kind. They said untrue things about him to the king, accusing him of being dishonest. They lied, claiming he kept some of the tax money for himself in a locked chest. After listening to these lies, the king called the new leader to the palace and asked him to explain why he always had a locked chest with him.

Question 5:

Why was everyone delighted to see the iron chest on the camel's back?

Answer:

Everyone in the palace was delighted to see the iron chest on the camel's back when the new governor arrived because they thought that the iron chest contained gold, silver and jewels in it. They knew if the king found the treasure inside the chest, he would dismiss the new governor from his duties and punish him for his bad deeds.

Question 6:

- (i) What did the iron chest contain?
- (ii) Why did the shepherd always carry it?
- (iii) Is it an example of the shepherd's humility or wisdom or both?

Answer:

- (i) Inside the strong iron chest, there was just an old blanket.
- (ii) The shepherd always kept this old blanket in the iron chest because it was very special to him. He believed it would still keep him safe, even if the king took away his job and authority.
- (iii) This shows the shepherd was humble, smart, and kind-hearted.

Question 7:

How did the king reward the new governor?

Answer:

The king was very happy with the new leader's humbleness, smart thinking, and truthfulness. He quickly rewarded the wise man and made him a leader of a larger area on the same day.
